

Soundfield: an alternative solution to vocal strain

Sharon Marchini has a class of 30 at Nicholas Hawkesmoor Primary School, Towcester. As an experienced teacher, Sharon uses her voice effectively but recently suffered voice strain and nodules on her larynx.

Now equipped with the latest Soundfield voice enhancement system (FrontRow Pro), Sharon says “I love it and the kids love it. I don’t need to raise my voice at all and the kids can hear wherever they are. Even if they are not looking towards me, they can hear clearly – Soundfield just sort of fills in the gaps.

“I suppose that ultimately, the system saved me from having to have an operation on my larynx, which would have been very inconvenient. If anyone suffers from voice strain or repeated problems caused by speaking, it is definitely worth a look.”

To find out more about soundfield solutions, vocal strain and funding streams or to request a DVD and information pack, visit www.soundfield.info

PC Werth 